This Baldwin Park mill is one of eleven clinics once run by Nicholas Braemer.

Factoids:

- Braemer attempted an abortion on a 16 week baby, but only succeeded in removing an arm. He sent the woman home where she delivered the rest of her dead baby (missing the arm). She developed an infection, was hospitalized, and required additional surgery.
- Braemer surrendered license in 2000 to avoid revocation.
- Braemer is rumored to have been the caller to 911 when Phillip Rand in 2003 botched an abortion in Santa Ana, CA that led to Rand's license revocation.
