WARNING: This brochure contains graphic and disturbing images. Discretion is urged.

The photos shown inside this brochure are from original slides taken by the Allegheny County (Pennsylvania) Coroner's Office during Marla Cardamone's autopsy (case # A89-2674.) These images are used with the full cooperation of Ms. Cardamone's family. To learn about other young women whose "Right to Choose" also put them on a stainless steel coroner's table, go to:

Marla Cardamone was 18 and pregnant. She would not make it to 19.

A medical counselor told Marla that the prescription medication she had been taking would cause her baby to be born with severe birth defects.

The counselor then began to push Marla to have an abortion. When she refused, the pressure was increased until it became more than she could resist. At that point, an abortionist was brought in to kill her baby. And while he was at it, he also killed Marla.

On the front of this brochure is a picture of what this young woman looked like on the day she went for her "safe and legal" abortion. The photos you see here were taken of her a few hours later at the local coroner's office.

Following Marla's death, it was determined that her baby had no abnormalities.

LIFE DYNAMICS

Marla died before her son was taken out of her body. This is the coroner's photo of him still inside her womb.

He was named Christopher Michael by his grandmother. When she requested that he be buried with his mother, she was informed that his body had been discarded as "medical waste."

Marla and I were clowning around in the kitchen when my mom snapped this photo. I had no way of knowing that this would be the last picture I would ever get to take with her. Before too long, my only child would be gone.

Since her death, I have discovered that what happened to her is not nearly as rare as we have all been led to believe. I can also tell you that the pro-choice movement cares nothing about these women. Every one they kill or maim is written off as just another martyr in their war to protect the abortion clinics. Believe me, when it comes to pushing their political and financial agendas, these people will do anything to keep the information you see here hidden from the public.

Today, Marla's father and I have joined with Life Dynamics to make sure that this cover-up ends. If other young women see this brochure, maybe they will make a different choice and not end up like this.

Deborah Cardamone
